Patient with recurrent osteosarcoma. Lateral radiograph obtained 3 years after resection and segmental total knee arthroplasty for treatment of osteosarcoma of distal femur shows cloudlike osteoid matrix (arrowheads) throughout posterior thigh and popliteal fossa, which is consistent with tumor recurrence.

See this CME article, "Imaging Characteristics of Locally Recurrent Tumors of the Bone," on pages 855–863.

AJR Author and Submission Information

Authors must submit manuscripts using the online peer review system. We do NOT accept submissions by mail.

AJR Author Guidelines

Detailed AJR Author Guidelines can be viewed or downloaded as a PDF from the ARRS Web site (www.arrs.org) by going to Publications → Journals → AJR Authors, then clicking on Instructions for Authors.

Submission and peer review questions should be addressed to:

American Roentgen Ray Society
Peer Review Manager, Publications Department
44211 Slatestone Ct • Leesburg, VA 20176-5109
Telephone: 703-729-3353 or 1-800-438-2777 • Fax: 703-729-4839
Email: AJRsubmit@arrs.org

Submitting Manuscripts

Once you have prepared your manuscript to conform to the author guidelines:

- Go to the ARRS Web site and click on Publications → Journals → AJR Authors
- Click on Manuscript Submission. This will take you to the online submission and peer review portal, Editorial Manager.
- For those authors who already have an account in Editorial Manager, click Login and then type in your username and password. (If you do not remember your username or password, click Send Username/Password.) First-time authors will need to register as an author in the new system.
- Follow the online instructions for filling out the submission form and uploading your manuscript.

Once the manuscript is submitted, you will need to fax or mail the Transfer of Copyright Agreement and Conflict of Interest Acknowledgment form with all of the author signatures to the ARRS Publications Department at the above address.

Article Types

The AJR publishes specific types of articles. Each type serves a distinct and separate purpose and is judged by different criteria. Manuscripts should be constructed according to specific guidelines for that type of article found in the Author Guidelines and Maximums for Articles Table.

General Submission & Peer Review Information

The AJR publishes original contributions to the advancement of medical diagnosis and treatment.

- Submitted manuscripts should not contain previously published material and must not be under consideration for publication elsewhere.
- The AJR follows the guidelines of the International Committee of Medical Journal Editors (ICMJE). The guidelines may be viewed at www.icmje.org.
- Manuscripts that do not conform to the AJR Author Guidelines or exceed the Maximums for Articles Submitted to the AJR may be sent back to the author without review or put on hold until the submission is deemed in compliance with the requirements.
- Manuscript decisions are based on peer review and editorial discretion. Reviewers receive manuscripts with blind title pages to ensure an unbiased review.
- Statements made in the article, including changes made by the Editor or manuscript editor, are the responsibility of the author and not of the AJR or ARRS.

PART B: Disclosure of Commercial Interest

The American Roentgen Ray Society (ARRS) is accredited by the Accreditation Council on Continuing Medical Education (ACCME) to sponsor continuing medical education activities to physicians.

ACCME Definition of a Financial Relationship

Financial relationships are those relationships in which the individual benefits by receiving a salary, royalty, intellectual property rights, consulting fee, honoraria, ownership interest (e.g., stocks, stock options or other ownership interest, excluding diversified mutual funds), or other financial benefit. Financial benefits are usually associated with roles such as employment, management position, independent contractor, (including contracted research), consulting, speaking and teaching, membership on advisory committees or review panels, board membership, and other activities from which remuneration is received or expected. The ACCME considers relationships of the person involved in the CME activity to include financial relationships of a spouse or partner.

Authors submitting manuscripts to the AJR must appropriately disclose any financial relationship with a commercial organization that may have an interest in the content.

Disclosure

- I now have or within the past 12 months have had financial interests or other relationship as defined in the paragraph above with a commercial organization that may have an interest in the content of the educational activity.
- I do not now have and have not within the past 12 months had a financial interest or other relationship as defined in the paragraph above with a commercial organization that may have an interest in the content of the educational activity.

Please list the manufacturers and/or service providers with whom you have a financial relationship, and describe the nature of your relationship. Please be specific.

- I understand that the educational activity I am providing must be free of commercial bias for or against any product and if the activity I am presenting is concerned with a commercial product(s) I will present objective information about these products, based on scientific methods generally accepted in the medical community. I will make these disclosures as part of the articles to which they apply.
